FRANK 5 FELLOWS NARRATIVE APPLICATION QUESTIONS
FOR PREVIEW PURPOSES ONLY
January 16, 2018

The narrative questions that follow will give us a chance to learn more about you. The Selection Committee appreciates clarity and brevity. In most instances, individual responses are limited to 2,000 characters or about 300 words. We suggest working in Word or Notes before inputting your responses.

Q. Community can be defined in different ways. Sometimes it's connected to your identity. Sometimes it comes from where you live, work or the people you hang out with. Tell us something about the community or communities (on- or off-line) that you are a part of.

Q. What inspires you? What drives you to do the work that you do?

Q. A mission statement is a declaration of an organization or an individual's core purpose. It's a brief statement that articulates a reason for being. Write a Tweet (140 characters or less) that expresses your personal mission statement.

Q. How has your liberal arts education had an impact on your career trajectory? And, how has your education impacted you as a person?

Q. Why do you want to be an Aydelotte Fellow? And, how could your personal story help public audiences better understand the liberal arts?

Q. The “Host Your Own” activity is an opportunity for you to offer up your personal take on the liberal arts. We are particularly interested in activities that draw in audiences from outside of the academy or those who are unfamiliar with the liberal arts. If you were to host an event to "lift up" the liberal arts, what would it look like? (Note: If selected as a Fellow, you are not committed to this particular idea.)

Q. Fellows will be called on to engage three to five members of one of their social networks in a series of public conversations about the liberal arts. If selected as a Fellow, which of your networks (e.g., family, friends, co-workers, neighbors, community members, etc.) would you want to connect with, and why? And, what aspects of the liberal arts experience could you envision talking about with this group?

Q. OPTIONAL: Is there something that you would like us to know that you haven’t already shared in another part of this application?
