We work with students at Gallaudet University and deaf people around the globe to make video books for young deaf children to develop their preliteracy skills. This fall course will also look at traditions within sign language literature (which is literature created and performed in a sign language).

Take a peek at: https://riseebooks.wixsite.com/access

Then come be part of making it happen.