Reproduction Policies

- We cannot accept orders for more than 25 copies.
- Unless permission is obtained, Friends Historical Library allows photocopying for personal or educational purposes only. Certain restricted or fragile material cannot be copied. The Library may limit the number of pages or items that can be photocopied from any publication, manuscript collection, or archival group.
- Copyrighted material may only be reproduced in accordance with regulations as specified by copyright law. Researchers using the Library assume legal responsibility for observing these regulations.
- Reproductions of publications, manuscripts, photographs, and other library material cannot be used by researchers for publications without due regard for copyright and other legal restrictions. Permission to copy does not constitute permission to publish. Publication privileges may be secured only upon the joint authorization of the Curator of Friends Historical Library and the holder of the literary rights

Copyright ownership does not necessarily accompany physical ownership of a manuscript. An owner of the physical manuscript may assert certain proprietary rights in regard to the physical manuscript, for example permitting or denying access to the property. This assertion of ownership rights, however, is distinct and separate from any copyright consideration affecting the manuscript.

Copyright Notice

The copyright law of the United States governs the making of photocopies or other reproductions of copyrighted material. Since 1978, unpublished manuscripts have been accorded federal copyright protection. Under certain conditions specified in the law, libraries and archives are authorized to furnish a photocopy or other reproduction. One of those specified conditions is that the copy is not to be "Used for any purpose other than private study, scholarship, or research." If a researcher uses a reproduction for purposes in excess of "fair use," that user may be liable for copyright infringement.
